

'Patient Films' - Reflective films by film making workshop participants

A set of 5 films including one by workshop facilitator Sindhu Thirumalaisamy on 'film' as a powerful tool to engage with our own thoughts and dilemmas as health professionals towards becoming better practitioners. The setting of each film is the workspace of that individual and ranges from a Path lab to an OPD in the hospital. The techniques used in each film are different, all aiming to make you think and question. The workshop was for six months on alternate weekends and plenty of 'own time'. Feedback is welcome as well as your acknowledgement of usage.
